Resources on fossil fuel investment and divestment

Prepared by the Prairie to Pine Climate Finance Task Group, March 2024. For ongoing updates on climate action and resources in the Prairie to Pine Region, please see our web page on the Prairie to Pine website. Use this as your home base!

Banks and investments

Letter templates for all major banks and for credit unions overall are on our web page.

The United Church of Canada Responsible Investing Guiding Principles was most recently updated in 2018 and is a useful guide for faithful stewardship of church funds. Please click here to access the PDF.

Banking on Climate Chaos: A number of global organizations have been tracking fossil fuel investment for the past 13 years. If you bank with one of Canada's mainline banks, you can learn, through this report the amount your bank invested in fossil fuels in 2022. Click here to access their entire site.

How banks are cashing in on the climate crisis: A basic video primer offered by Greenpeace on how banks are contributing to the climate crisis. Click here for the YouTube video.

General climate resources

For the Love of Creation is a faith-based resource for group climate action. Excellent for discerning what action you can take together, it's an ecumenical commitment shared by the United Church through KAIROS.

The Week: This three-part video series is offered free to faith communities and offers a clear look at where we are right now, why there is reason for hope, and difference action we might engage in. A real motivator for individuals and communities. Click here for their website and the videos.

Here is the most recent report on what United Churches have done in terms of climate action.
